Big Benefits Reported for the Event Professional

Meetings are an integral part of any company's communication and decision-making processes. Whether it's a corporate board meeting, a sales presentation, a team brainstorming session, or a virtual conference, the role of a professional host and entertainer cannot be underestimated. A skilled and professional host plays a pivotal role in shaping the outcome and effectiveness of a meeting. John, as himself or in character, can serve to...

We asked a great deal of John for our product launch and he delivered.

Presented as a telethon, John played the host and all the celebrity guests. He became an integral part of our creative team; he assisted in writing, structure, concept, and, of course, performing live as well as in video modules. He's the total package.

establish the meeting tone, provide program continuity, ensure seamless transitions, bolster audience engagement, open minds, leave lasting impressions and inspire so much darn fun!

There's more. As an event collaborator, John brings the ability to inspire and brainstorm fresh ideas, and as a writer, he's got the expertise to deliver custom-written content to captivate your audience.

And then there's this.

According to Jack Rickenbach, Owner, Aranco Productions:

"John is just flat out, the nicest, most talented all around pro guy who puts 100% into every event."

And regardless of how John is incorporated into a show (creative director, host, impersonator or keynote); and in no matter what capacity he's used - event host, award show host, brand ambassador, game show host, roast master, bogus speaker or VO artist & broadcast host - John delivers return on investment. Every time.

AND IN OTHER NEWS

While John was busy prepping for multiple event emcee gigs -- as himself or in character -- he also had a very busy month impersonating Trump. Because, like it or not, Trump himself is forever making headlines. And John was all over it!

Quizzes a Trump Triumvirate On Sirius XM Radio

Will the real Donald Trump please stand up?

In an unprecedented line-up, a triumvirate of Trump impersonators, John being Trump #1, (given his tenure on the show), appeared before Howard Stern, in the Sirius XM studios, to be grilled on the exceptional and prolific charges facing the ex-president.

Stern felt that so much had happened during the summer that the only way to get to the bottom of the conundrum was to have Trump in triptych. One was not enough to cover the deluge of news. And so it was. And a laugh riot ensued.

Stern's questions were specific and sharp. And the Trumps tripped over one another trying to give the appropriate answers on topics like his indictments, impeachments, and his candidacy.

In the end, and as expected, nothing was resolved but the audience was totally entertained and engaged as only Trump and Di Domenico can do. Forget about the other two Trump imposters. As far as John's concerned, they were FAKE!

Di Domenico Roasts ARK Restaurant COO at the World-Famous Bryant Park Grill in NYC

It's been reported that on one beautiful August summer day in the Big Apple, a limo pulled up in front of the world-famous Bryant Park Grill and out of the vehicle tumbled a Secret Service detail and none other than Donald Trump.

Making his way to the venue, Trump engaged with the crowds (of one or two) before heading to the podium to do the honor of roasting the COO of Ark Restaurants, Vinny Pascal.

FAKE TRUMP, REAL LAUGHS AT CARROT TOP'S LAS VEGAS LUXOR SHOW

Curly haired, red-headed prop comedian, Carrot Top, leads a one-man circus with trunks full of ingenious, hilarious inventions based on pop culture and current events. And nothing is more current than Donald Trump.

And on one Monday night in August, Johnny D showed up in character; and always quite the character, gave an over the top performance. The audience went wild. It was John's second stage visit, with Carrot Top and not likely the last.

Sweeping windows with a great view of the park provided a brilliant background for the ex-president as he roasted the guest of honor with brilliant custom-written, Trump-centric comedy that focused on the esteemed roastee.

And according to Pascal, the guest of honor, "Trump was tremendous! There's nothing like him in the world."
